During Railroad Festival

'Plaza Suite' slated for Saturday night showing

By DARRELL PUCKETT

Plaza Suite, a three-act comedy, written by Neil Simon and directed by veteran actor and founder of Depot Dramatics, Joyce Sweet will be the event of Saturday, October 9. The play is one of this year's Historic Appomattox Railroad Festivals added attractions. The comedy will be performed on the Appomattox County High School auditorium stage immediately following the "Fireworks" show in the ACHS parking lot.

The play takes place in one of the suites in the Plaza Hotel located in New York City. As the drama unfolds, Tamara Nash (Alias Karen Nash) is found to be going through a mid-life crisis when she learns that her husband David Williams (Sam Nash) is having an affair with his secretary, Becky Mason (Miss Jean McCormick). As the tension mounts, a rather "unusual" waiter seems to appear from nowhere supplying comic relief in a "slap-stick" manner.

Act two opens with Margaretta Flood (alias Muriel Tate) an average New Jersy housewife and mother visiting her high school friend Barry Hamlett (Jesse Kiplinger) "a famous Hollywood producer." This somewhat "flighty" housewife proves to be the source of many laughs as she attempts to get out of an impossible situation. The plot thickens as Jesse puts his "famous Hollywood producer" move on Muriel as he makes a pass at her. The story, then, takes an interesting twist...

In act three, we find Joyce Sweet (alias Norma Hubley) frantically trying to get her daughter, Mimsey (Jann Mason) who is about to be married to Borden Eisler (Steve Lawrence) out of a locked bathroom when her " unpredictable" husband Darrell Puckett (Roy Hubley) discovers what has occured. The comedy only gets better as these two nervous parents attempt to get their scared daughter out of a locked bathroom in order to avoid having an eight thousand dollar picnic.

So come on out and enjoy an evening of entertainment as Depot Dramatics presents Neil Simon's Plaza Suite. Tickets are available for $2.00 each.

Pamplin Club is dedicated to helping others in need

The best way to convince people that you care is by doing something about meeting their needs.

That's what the Friendly Hearts Club is all about....caring and then doing.

The Friendly Hearts Club is a small club in Pamplin dedicated to helping the needy families in the Pamplin and the 248 exchange area.

In the past the club has helped individuals who have lost their homes as a result of fire; they have helped families with staggering medical bills and others, who, for various reasons have desperately needed a helping hand.

In their effort to continue lending a helping hand, the Friendly Hearts Club is planning a Mini Bowl-A-Thon at the Fort Hill Bowling Center on Saturday, Oct. 9 at 7 p.m.

Each bowler is seeking sponsors to pledge a Penny A Pin or more for the total score of three games. Anyone interested in sponsoring a bowler may do so by calling Vadie Elder at 352-5187 or Phyllis Garrison at 248-6747.
